

The first picture is the home page of the proposed application. The users can select the course, semester and module name to access the notes. The hamburger button contains the home and favourites section.

Once the users select the module code, they have to select the chapter number so that they can see the notes. The love sign button at the top right corner lets the user to add the notes in the favourites section. The last picture shows the favourites section where user can rename the name of the notes to not get confuse with other notes.
